

Heterodox Economics Newsletter
<http://www.heterodoxnews.com>
Guidelines for Book Reviewers

The Newsletter will publish reviews of recently published books that are relevant to the development of heterodox economics and to the open and pluralistic intellectual debates in economics. The reviews will contribute to building the community of heterodox economists, and to the development of heterodox economic theory through the dissemination of ideas/arguments. No books/arguments will be excluded as long as they contribute to heterodox economics in whatever manner.

A good book review should: (1) give a clear idea of what the book is about; (2) a sense of its relevance to heterodox economics; (3) and an assessment of its strengths/weaknesses.

Word Count: Reviewers should aim at 500 words as a minimum, but reviews of up to 2,000 words will be acceptable.

Reviewers may bundle a set of 2-3 books in a single review under a general theme (e.g. labor markets, development, price theory, etc...). Book reviews are not peer-reviewed but are expected to meet acceptable academic standards.

As an international forum for heterodox economics, the Newsletter welcomes reviews of books published in other languages, and will also welcome book reviews written in any language.

Anyone interested in reviewing books for the Newsletter should contact Fadhel Kaboub, Book Review Editor by email (kaboubf@denison.edu) to request a complementary copy of the book they wish to review. Book reviews should be sent electronically as MS Word attachments to the book review editor (kaboubf@denison.edu).

Interested reviewers should frequently check out the following publishers for the most recent list of heterodox publications:

Ashgate Publishing: <http://www.ashgate.com>
Cambridge University Press: <http://www.cambridge.org>
Edward Elgar Publishing: <http://www.e-elgar.co.uk>
M.E. Sharpe: <http://www.mesharpe.com>
Oxford University Press: <http://www.oup.co.uk>
Palgrave Macmillan: <http://www.palgrave.com>
Routledge: <http://www.routledge.com>
University of Michigan Press: <http://www.press.umich.edu>
Verso Books: <http://www.versobooks.com>

All books (from any publisher) are welcome; the above is just a list of publishers who traditionally print heterodox books.